INDEX FOR 1968

The year 1968 has been like no other. For labor, it opened with a sense of urgency and expectation. The AFL-CIO convention in December 1967 again laid out a broad program to meet the nation's problems and the January issue of this magazine presented labor's proposals.

But it was clear the nation was too deeply divided—over Viet Nam, over race, over “law and order”—to act decisively. With the presidential elections in the offing, much of the frustration flowed into political channels. Then the shocking assassinations of Martin Luther King, Jr. and Robert F. Kennedy seemed to make everything else anti-climactic.

The campaign between Humphrey and Nixon eventually overcame the apathy and contributed to the process of the nation trying to find its way again, with Wallace a reminder that bigotry was still too much with us.

This magazine attempted to mirror the events of 1968, the ugly and the hopeful, as well as present constructive programs aimed at basic ills. The year ends with a sense of relief, a new Administration on trial and problems still festering.

HOW TO USE INDEX

In master index, articles are listed alphabetically by title and numbered consecutively. The cross-indexes facilitate the finding of an article by subject or author.

Example: Collective Bargaining 3, 9, 17, 42, 52

These numbers in the master index will yield the title, page and month for each article on the subject of Collective Bargaining. Thus No. 3 produces the information: "Bargaining Gains: Review and Preview," by Rudolph Oswald and Mitchell Sherr, Page 15, March issue.
